

JOB DESCRIPTION

JOB TITLE Liquid Measurement Technician

REPORTS TO Industrial Controls Foreman

JOB OVERVIEW

The Liquid Measurement Technician is responsible for ensuring the accurate measurement and monitoring of the oil and gas production processes. You will install, calibrate, and maintain measurement equipment used in the oilfield. This includes devices like flow meters, pressure gauges, and temperature sensors. Conduct regular inspections of measurement systems to verify their accuracy and compliance with regulatory requirements. A strong grasp of measurement principles is vital. This includes knowledge of flow measurement, pressure measurement, and temperature measurement. Keeping the flow of oil and gas smooth is essential for efficient operations.

RESPONSIBILITIES AND DUTIES

- Safely and efficiently troubleshoots electrical systems that includes but are not restricted to PLC troubleshooting & repair, drive troubleshooting & repair, and instrumentation & controls.
- Prompt start times and service request response for assigned client(s).
- Thorough, complete, and quality calibration, troubleshooting, and programming for client(s).
- Installation and maintenance of equipment pertaining to various measurement applications.
- Devices include but are not limited to Coriolis meters, total flows, ROC800/107, LACT Units etc...
- Completions of all required paperwork requested by supervisor and Company PIC.
- Communicates with operators while troubleshooting equipment.
- Support all projects as assigned.
- Communicate to employees, management and clients with cheerfulness and a willingness to help.

- Be an active safety role model and follow all safety requirements.
- Live Wescom core values of Building Customers for Life, Serving with Integrity, Empowering People and Creating Opportunities.

QUALIFICATIONS

- High school diploma with computer skills including Microsoft Office and CAD preference.
- Willingness and desire to learn and be trained.
- Knowledge of industrial processes including oil field.
- Electrical experience preferred.

SALARY

- $35.00 / hour + DOE

HOURS

- 8 days on and 6 off schedule, while working 10 hour days.

CAREER PATH

The Measurement Technician reports to the Industrial Controls Foreman. There are several career paths available to the right individual including moving up to the Industrial Controls Supervisor, over to the Industrial Controls field team, electrical team for off-site project work, safety, or other operations. Wescom believes in empowering people and is always willing to train the right person.

